

The system allows users to register to create a personal profile and access the system's functionalities. Registered users can manage their basic information and view their profile through a dedicated interface.